

The Nation Pays Tribute to the Brave Boys Of 1861-65--Both Dead and Living

In these bustling, bustling days of prosperity, when all men in the good old U. S. A. are on the go, some piling up fortunes, others digging out a living from the soil or toiling for wife and children in the shops, it is quite fitting that all take a day off to do reverence to those veterans of the Civil War who are still among us, and to scatter fragrant flowers over the last resting place of those who have answered the bugle call and crossed over the dark river.

For years the custom has been for the people of the fair northland to pay tribute to those heroes who at their country's call went forth to defend the sacred principles that bound these states into a Union.

But, it seems, that this year of all years, the question of peace is brought more forcibly home. While the countries across the sea are at each other's throats, ripping and tearing human flesh, soaking the ground with the precious blood of sons and fathers, we here in the land of the free and the home of the brave are enjoying peace.

While thousands across the waters are crying for bread, we have plenty and to spare.

While Germany, England, France, Austria, Italy and

Russia are pouring a steady stream of the youths of their country into the terrible jaws of war, the people of this country are contented, happy, industrious, secure under the folds of the stars and stripes for which the old heroes battled so bravely during the days of 1861-65, which they preserved unsullied, though drenched with their life's blood.

And while usage has designated this as the annual Memorial Day, nevertheless it should be more. It is a day of whole hearted thanksgiving. We should give thanks that this country has not been plunged into the vortex of hideous war—that we are at peace with all mankind—that we can hold up our heads as free men—with none to molest us or make us afraid. Yes, it is a time for patriotic thanksgiving.

It is a time when the youths of this country are taught to reverence the boys in blue who so nobly defended the emblem of the country, the red, white and blue.

Keeping tottering step, many of the old veterans will march today as they did in the days of 61-65. But instead of carrying the old musket, their tired hands will cluster tightly around a bunch of fragrant flowers.

With the knowledge that they did their duty without fear of life, they will march to the city of the dead to lay upon some veteran's mound nature's choicest offerings.

Many, if not all of them, will be brought face to face with the fact that before many more years elapse some one will be performing that sacred duty for them.

And let them rest content in the fact that so long as God reigns that their brave deeds will be kindly remembered and their graves will be banked high with flowers on each succeeding Memorial Day.

He said he had killed 10,000 rabbits since August. His plea was denied on the ground that he would make an excellent rat-catcher for the trenches.

Universal Service of Incalculable Benefit To the Nation Col. Roosevelt On Preparedness The U. S. of Tomorrow Rests In the Children of Today

NATIONALIZING THE UNITED STATES—PART II.
By THEODORE ROOSEVELT
Copyright, 1916, by S. S. McClure.

I believe in universal service based upon universal training. I believe in this because I think it would be not only of incalculable benefit to the nation in the event of war, but of incalculable benefit to the individuals undergoing it, and therefore, to the nation as a whole as regards the work of peace. The military tent, where all sleep side by side, will rank next to the public school among the great agents of democratization. The civilian training camp movement is the best civic movement for Americanism which is now actively manifest.

Our young men need discipline. There can be nothing better for them than such training. It would set them up physically. It would give them a knowledge of sanitation, of cleanliness. They would learn regularity of habits, abstinence, obedience, self-respect and respect for others. They would learn to handle and command men, and to get along with them. They would become infinitely more competent for the daily tasks of American life. I have not hesitated, and do not now hesitate, to condemn Germany where Germany's actions have been wrong, but it is folly to blink the fact that in many respects Germany furnishes us an example we shall do well to heed, for she secures her people good government, orderly government and substantial economic justice combined with high industrial efficiency.

GOVERNMENT SHOULD TAKE AN INTEREST IN CITIZENS' HEALTH

Our national government in return for universal service should take an interest in the health and vigor of its citizens. Such conditions as the lack even of statistics on births, deaths and in two-thirds of the states would thereby immediately become impossible. The government should as a matter of course see to it that children are reared under conditions that make for health and a full development of bodily strength. National supervision and national aid for education would supplement the present unequal—and in some states haphazard—local effort. The boy who is educated in the one-room prairie school may tomorrow be the business man of New York, or the engineer guiding our trains across the Rockies. Every American, no matter where he lives, is interested in that boy's education. The American nation of tomorrow rests in the children of today. If universal military service makes us realize that each of us is interested in procuring for the children of this whole nation the right conditions of life and proper education, it will have paid all that it costs many times over.

Under a programme of all around preparedness our government would enter a new relation to business. It would recognize that our corporations and business organizations can serve the nation in time of war, and serve the public and give proper wages and proper treatment in all matters to the wage workers in time of peace, only if they are well organized and prosperous. While imposing the obligation for national service upon the corporation, the government would encourage business. The same organization that would make for national strength if we were in conflict with a foreign foe would give us the basis for a more successful international business struggle in times of peace. Victory over the forces of nature, like success in business competition with foreign nations, presupposes the same kind of proper organization as is demanded by the preparedness movement. Hence, the government should encourage business, build it up, understand its needs, endeavor to deal with it from the standpoint of experts instead of that of politicians. It would, thereby, aid business in accomplishing those things that lie beyond the power of the individual corporation.

UNITED STATES HAS ENTERED ON NEW ERA

In another respect the United States has entered a new era in its development. We are no longer merely the market place to which foreign countries may export their capital and manufactured goods. Our own industries have developed to a point where they can take care of the home markets and supply foreign markets as well. The savings of our people are available for foreign investment and the development of foreign countries. When the American business man or banker travels abroad in pursuit of his legitimate interests his citi-

THREE PARADES FORM TRIBUTE IN NEW YORK

New York, May 30.—The high made up three parades which pitched of patriotism caused by the preparedness campaign emphasized the celebration of Memorial Day here and made the military display one of the most notable in many years. National guard organizations, G. A. R., posts, Spanish war veterans, the coast artillery, battalions of marines and sailors from the warships in the harbor, the boy scouts and other organizations will deliver the address.

DENY MEXICAN NOTE SENT TO WASHINGTON

Mexico City, May 30.—Foreign Minister Aguilar stated today that no note had been sent to Washington by General Carranza. He intimated that a communication had been under consideration, but offered no explanation as to why it had been withheld.

Manuel Mendez, an attaché of the foreign office, arrived in Washington today. Prior to his arrival state department officials had been unofficially informed that Mr. Mendez was a special messenger from General Carranza and carried a note which probably renewed the suggestion that American troops be withdrawn from Mexico. Officials of the defunct government in Washington had also received the same information, but Mr. Mendez, on his arrival said that he carried no note and was simply on a vacation.

Veterans Pay Tribute to Their Dead, Citizens Honor The Living Soldiers!

PARADE PRECEDES THE EXERCISES AT CEMETERY A FINE ADDRESS MADE

Notwithstanding the leaden clouds and light misty rain, the various fraternal and patriotic organizations, with unfurled banners of the United States, formed under the leadership of Grand Marshal Cread Milstead at the corner of Fifth and Chillicothe streets Tuesday morning and marched to the Greenlawn cemetery, where the memorial exercises for the living and dead heroes of many a hard fought battlefield, were held with impressive ceremonies.

Early in the morning, baskets of flowers and evergreen began to arrive at the flower hall, near the Security bank building, Gallia street. The Ladies of the Bailey Post Relief Corps and the Sons of Veterans Auxiliary took these living buds and divided them into small sprays and packed them in large baskets to be shipped to the cemetery. Then these flowers were taken to Greenlawn and tenderly placed upon the small green mounds which are monuments to emulate the deeds of those who have fallen.

A cord of city police paved the way for the main body of the parade and was closely followed by the Grand Marshal and his staff mounted upon spirited horses. Red, white and blue predominated as decorations throughout the marching columns and formed a striking contrast against the fresh green of the trees and shrubs.

Then in the van of the Grand Marshal's staff, were the members of the drum and bugle corps and in open rank order the United States War veterans, the Sons of Veterans, the Boy Scouts, the Junior Order of United American Mechanics Band and uniformed rank, Woodmen of the World, uniformed rank of Portsmouth and New Boston camps, the Lewis band, members of Bailey Post, G. A. R. and all ex-soldiers and sailors and marines in automobiles, city officials in automobiles, citizens in machines and carriages and the fire departments.

The parade marched north on Chillicothe street to Ninth street and passed through Tracy Park, winding past the soldier's monument with bared heads, the marching columns proceeded east on Ninth to Officers street and thence north on Officers street to the cemetery.

Gathering about Soldiers' Circle, the marchers with uncovered heads, listened to the memorial address given by Rev. B. P. Caudill, pastor of the First Baptist church.

Stars and Stripes Adopted in 1776

"The Stars and Stripes, the flag of the United States," said Rev. B. P. Caudill, pastor of the First Baptist church who delivered the memorial address in Greenlawn, "was adopted by congress of 1776, June 14. The original flag had only thirteen stars. The stripes represented the thirteen colonies. The stars each represented a state.

"It is said that the first flag was manufactured from a soldier's white shirt; an old blue army coat and a red flannel petticoat.

"John Paul Jones had the honor of first hoisting the flag at sea. As the years have passed, you will find that it has been necessary to re-arrange the field of stars and add many others to the original thirteen.

"A bit of curious interest is attached to the method which the United States government adds other stars when new states are admitted. The government flags everywhere are called in and are sent to the national capital. By careful and exacting measurements the field of stars are re-arranged.

Then thousands of new stars are cut with the dies in the hands of experts, who cut thirty at a time and these are placed one on each of the thousands of flags sent to the capital after which they are re-distributed to the posts where they are to be unfurled. And Old Glory waves with a new star added to its galaxy.

"A few days ago I read an account of a boy who refused to salute the flag. He was an American boy. His reason for not saluting the flag were not given. If he felt that the flag was like a fetish or a weird charm which has so much cloth, carrying with it power or influence, one might understand him and forgive his otherwise un-American attitude. But if intelligently, he considered that for which the flag stands and then refused to salute it, he was guilty, what we would call in a man, the sin of the traitor.

LOAN ADVANTAGES

4. The weekly or monthly plan is better for the wage earner than the straight loan because as he pays each week the interest is not only being paid but also the principal. Many have tried the straight loan and changed to our DEFINITE CONTRACT PLAN. Weekly payments are not so hard on the wage earner, as to pay a lump sum and he can more readily meet them. Weekly payments and our semi-annual interest reducing plan makes the best loan for wage earners.

ery true man. As one reads the story of the attempt of the Ancient Greeks to establish liberty and the republican form of government, we can see that they did not fully succeed but they had a brave, true idea and their efforts to attain it should be lauded by the nations of the earth.

"The critic may tell us that the ancient Roman Republic was a republic only in name that after a few men ruled the realm, but the conception of liberty which true democracy would give them lauded large before many a patriot in those days. Perhaps after all the best example of a true republic and by the liberty and freedom which it insures was to be found in this western hemisphere.

Attention Called To Sublime Words

"I would like to call the attention of every school boy and girl as well as the older people of this through to the sublime words of the preamble of our national constitution: 'We the people of the United States in order to form a more perfect union, insure domestic tranquility, provide for a common defense and promote the general welfare of ourselves and posterity, do ordain and establish the constitution of the United States of America.' Note the bold outlines upon which the republican conception of this great government was based.

"But let us keep in mind that these are only words. It remained that the struggle of three million people for seven long years was necessary in order to effect any practical government based upon these ideas.

"From Lexington to Yorktown, through summer's heat and winter's cold, through privation all but untold; on bloody battlefields the continental army forged its way. When the last conflict between the British army and the American patriots had been waged, freedom and victory perched on the banner of the young republic and the soldiers of the American revolution had vouchsafed by might and right the blessings which the preamble of the constitution before declared.

"Perhaps the fathers of American liberty, when the treaty of Paris was signed and the news reached them, felt that true liberty was saved for them and their children forever. But you have heard of the war for American freedom—the war of 1812—when it seemed necessary to convince the mother country—England—that her daughter in America had attained her majority and was really to the management of her affairs. Three long years were sufficient to settle this question with the British government. Surely! now our forefathers might decide that there is never to be again a war for freedom.

"But the school boy of today, who notes the records on the pages of American history, which tell us of the increasing agitation over the question of state rights and negro slavery can see before he reaches the day of Lincoln that another conflict was impending.

"This conflict burst upon us in all its fury, when Major Anderson was compelled to hand down the United States flag following the bombardment of Fort Sumter, April 14, 1861. The nation passed through four bloody wars. The framers of the constitution had avowed its purpose in the preamble of that document to form a more perfect union. Little did they think that such a union would be cemented by the blood of their sons.

"The history of liberty has been given only in broken fragments. But the heroism of the peoples, ancient and modern, in the struggle for liberty thrills the heart of every true man.

"One of the splendid results of the war of the rebellion was the achievement of a true and more perfect union of the states. Cession has never been considered a state right since.

"Two events in the earlier years of the war of '61-'65 were of far greater significance than some of us would have been prone to suppose; the emancipation proclamation and the death of General Stonewall Jackson.

"I take it that it was not altogether because of the fact that the munitions of war were so largely in the hands of the southern confederacy that the early victories were so nearly southern victories. The immortal Lincoln as chief executive of the nation was hesitating. The real trouble was the enslavement of four million human beings when he issued his proclamation concerning the freedom. It was the stroke of a mighty hero. It marked a change in that awful conflict.

"One of the sad events of those four awful years was the killing of the great soldier and general, Stonewall Jackson, who was shot by one of his own men by mistake. Stonewall Jackson was a man of prayer and of faith of the God of armies and nations. Repeatedly, his body servant tells us he spent prolonged seasons in prayer in his tent before the waging of great battles. Are we to understand that mysterious providence which permitted the tragic death to mar this as long as he lived and prayed, the tide of war could not be turned toward the emancipation of the slaves of the south.

"The courage of Lincoln in issuing his proclamation and the tragic death of Stonewall Jackson marks the turn in the tide and predicted the outcome of the war. Four million slaves are to begin to learn the value of freedom and one hundred million of us today need to consider all over again the cost of freedom and its inestimable value.

"Under the folds of Old Glory we may sing 'America' and shout 'Hosannas' in the land of the free and the home of the brave."

NEW ISSUE OF MONEY JULY 1

Washington, May 30—A new issue of dimes, quarters and half dollars will be offered July 1. The new half dollars will be a full length likeness of liberty on an American flag and an eagle with spreading wings. The quarters will be an allegory of the awakening of the nation to self protection, typified by Liberty striding toward the country's gates, bearing a shield from which she discarding the cover. The dimes are to be a simple design of liberty in a winged cap on one side and a battle axe and bundle of rods on the other. The last design is symbolic of Unity and Strength.

Lenore Ulrich in "The Heart of Paula," Paramount, at the Lyric Today

Old Mexico the home of a people revered for their old world stolidness, their hospitality, their culture, and their strong sentiment and traditions—this is the atmosphere which pervades almost every scene in "The Heart of Paula," the latest Pallas pictures offering.

And charming Lenore Ulrich, with her wonderful beauty and strong emotional ability, makes of Paula Pignora, a Spanish character of many phases.

The story is told and filmed in the actual environment of old Mexico. It concerns the experiences of Bruce McLean, a young mining engineer, who assumes the place and name of his sister's husband, Stephen Pachmann, on a trip to value their mining properties in the heart of a revolutionary hotbed.

Alice Brady in "Then I'll Come Back to You" at the Lyric Tomorrow

The presentation of the World Film Corporation's production of "Then I'll Come Back to You," in which Alice Brady makes her appearance, supported by a typical Frohman cast, will take place at the Lyric Theatre tomorrow.

"Then I'll Come Back to You" is the dramatization of the Larry Evans' story which appeared separately in the "Metropolitan Magazine," and then in book form, in which form editions in the hundred thousands have already been sold. It's a wonderful story of the great outdoors of courageous men and a manly struggle for love. This picture is one of the triumphs of the season.

At The Exhibit
"The Code of Honor" is an American, three reel production, featuring Alfred Vossburgh, Frank Borzage, Estelle Allen, Vivian Rich and George Periolat. The plot contains much familiar material, telling how a secret agent employs his beautiful sister to get military plans. The situations are new in the first two reels, and work up with good suspense in the third. The cast is pleasing and capable and the settings adequate. After obtaining the plans and driving her lover almost to the point of self-destruction, the girl relents and manages to save his honor and her own happiness.

"Maud Muller Modernized" is a Falstaff parody on the old Maud Muller poem with poetical subtitles. She drives a Flivver, runs over the judge and scares away his affections.

At The Arcana
"The Eyes of Fear" is a Laemmle two reel drama, featuring Elsie Jane Wilson, Rapert Julian, Yona Landowski and others. The scenes occur at Panama and carry the tropic atmosphere successfully. There is also a good tension in the murder scenes and those immediately following. The plot is not so obvious as often happens and is accordingly above the average in interest. A well-constructed and appealing number.

"Hungry Happy's Dream," is a Big C eccentric comedy number in which Paul Bourgeois appears as a hobo. He dreams he is a trainer of wild animals. "The Town That Tried to Come Back" is an Imp feature production.

At The Strand
"The Boat" is a five part Mutual Masterpiece featuring Betty Harte and William Clifford. The types in this play are interesting and have been well portrayed by a competent cast. The majority of the scene take place in frontier gambling dens. A young girl is used as bait in one of these dens and is afterward married to a trapper of good character. This is up to the usual high standard set by the Mutual Masterpieces and is one of the best ever thrown on the screen. Come in the afternoon and avoid the night rush.

At The Forrest
"The Knotted Cord" is a three part Thanhouser drama featuring Bert DeLaney as detective, Ernest H. Ward as the millionaire, Mignon Anderson as his daughter, Yale Benner as chief of the Knotted Cord Gang and William Burt secretary to the detective. The story is one that will grip your interest and hold it to the end. A detective drama that carries the punch and one that is filled with nothing but excitement. For months the Gang left a wake of death. Two millionaires had been strangled and beside their dead bodies the police found a knotted cord.

The detective with many odds against him finally solves the mysteries.

Tonight also will be shown another chapter of that thrilling serial, "The Diamond From the Sky."

At The Temple
Afternoon and evening. Last time in the city. Come early.

Dramatically strong and pointing fearlessly to a moral which, however, delicate, is forcible. "Forbidden Fruit," the latest of the Standard preferred photo productions, is one of extraordinary interest.

"Forbidden Fruit" deals with a variation from the moral code, and the possible consequences, but sin is never shown in an alluring guise. On the contrary, the story dwells almost exclusively on the misery that may result from a misstep, however well intentioned the motive behind it.

The scenario builds to a strong climax which is ultimately followed by a happy ending brought about through the awakening of the husband.

Paula Shay and Everett Rutherford are the dual stars of the photodrama, supported by an exceptionally strong cast.

The Rhodum Sidus.
An amusing story told by Hood describes how a country nurseryman made a large sum out of sales of a simple little flower which he sold under the name of the Rhodum sidus. This charming name proved quite an attraction to the ladies, and the flower became the rage of the season. It was one of those freaks of fashion for which there is no accounting. At length a botanist who found that the plant was not an uncommon weed requested to know where the nurseryman got the name from. He elicited the following reply: "I found this flower in the road beside us, so christened it the Rhodum sidus."

THE SOURCE OF KNOWLEDGE

These being the days when the handsome and fair young graduates are nonchalantly settling all the problems of the ages, we have one that we would like to offer them for solution. It is this: Is knowledge the outcome of necessity or ambition? It is a question that arose with us when we were reading an article on cassava. Cassava, as near as we could make out, is something akin to hard tack. It is the daily and almost the sole food of millions of the natives of South America. Cassava is a tropical plant with an unusually long root. The women dig these up, dry, grate, or beat them into a pulp, while they are yet dry and place them into a long woven bag, or press, as it may be called. One end of the press is hung aloft and to the other is depended a heavy log. The effect is the extension and so narrowing of the bag, which converts it into a compressor and the juice of the root is forced out of it and seeps through the mesh to be caught in a calabash, or gourd, which is carefully guarded against access by child or dog, as the juice is a rank poison, containing a large percentage of prussic. The pulp is now made into patties, which are dried in the sun and made into a most nutritious as well as a healthful food, while the juice is boiled to the evaporation of the acid and it becomes a safe and useful article. It is curious that these children of nature should resort to such an ingenious device to attain the spirit of the pure food law, but more still to speculate upon the evolution by which they reached the attainment. We may suppose, born as they were to the manner, a party of the chase was lost in the jungle and losing their bows and arrows in the treacherous current of some unknown stream were forced by starvation to feed on roots. Some tasted of the green cassava and died and the experience became folklore. A thousand years later a child playing about, picked up, as is the wont of a child, a bit of this same root, which had long lain in the torrid sun, put it in its mouth and swallowed it, as is also the way of a child, before its screaming mother could reach its side, and did not die. When her mate came home from the hunt that eve she told him what had happened to the child. He grunted and looked not unkindly. Then he sat down and smoked long. When he arose, he said: "Huh, tomorrow woman go down by the great water, dig lots root, dry em sun, then me eat." Another thousand years went by and another man saw his woman laying out the roots in the sun to dry. He said: "Huh, much long, woman take stone, beat roots up like the foam on the quick running water, then he dry quick." Still another thousand years went by, and a hunter, seeing how his moss-casined foot squeezed the water out of the wet moss, went back to his tepee and told his woman how to use the bag and press the juice out of the cassava. Those were under primitive and natural conditions, man protected and devised for the woman, fought for her, and all she had to do was to work. Civilization and progress has changed all that. Man has gone on inventing things to lessen the work of woman until there is the automatic milkier, the electric sweeper and the fireless cooker, and she doesn't have to work anymore, nothing to do except preen and primp, and run to the movies, and man has to go out and hustle to get enough coin to buy her long shoes and short skirts, and gasoline. We are not offering any suggestion, or thought, as to whether it was the necessity of her imperious will that drove man to advance, or the ambition of his love for her that spurred him on; we simply leave it to the graduates.

FORWARD OR BACKWARD, WHICH

An organized movement exists in every warring nation, along with others in several neutral nations, to supply the men at the front with tobacco. Millions are raised and expended to this end, beyond what the governments themselves supply. In this we see the world moving, but in what direction? For it is striking contrast with what was going on a little more than a hundred years ago, when the fight was going on in Flanders, but the situation was largely reversed as the whole of Europe was then arrayed against France, England, Germany, Russia, Sweden, Norway, Austria, Italy, Belgium and every dukedom and principality being allied to the overthrow of the mighty Napoleon. The Duke of Wellington was in command of the allied forces of that period and this is one of the commands of the day that he issued: "The Commander-in-Chief has been informed that the use of smoking by pipes, cigars or cheroots, has become prevalent among the officers of the army, which is not only in itself a species of intemperance occasioned by the fumes of the tobacco, but undoubtedly occasions drinking and tipping by those who acquire the habit." The practice was therefore prohibited. Smoking has become almost a universal habit among men, it is even finding many devotees among women, but there is a sturdy minority that regards it, like Wellington, as a twin brother to Demon Rum.

It is a real pleasure to note in these days of high taxes and high everything else that the state of Ohio has expended a total of $16,000 for a line fish car so that our eminent salmon and game commission can travel about the state.

Guess the civil war is actually over. Arkansas has no elected son of union soldier for governor and as he is on the Democratic ticket he is going to be elected.

MEMORIAL DAY 1916

We have advised that a car load of pink paper is coming slowly but surely and that nothing else happening it will be with us by the time the European war comes to an end. And then our Pink Extra which is now appearing in white clothes will once more resume normal garb. Her pink gown will be a little faded, but still it will pass for pink.

Someone Else Discovers Mully Mole

For some days after Tommy Tittlemouse and his little mate discovered the mole tracks, they had the most fun. Never in their whole little lives had they known such jolly times!

Every day they waked up bright and early and they could hardly get through their work quick enough. They were so eager to run for the tunnels! The little nest in the old log was not in order in a jiffy, and long before the birds were through their morning meal the two little mice were off into the tunnel in search of food.

Maybe you wonder why they never ran across Mully Mole. You might think they would. But you see, Mully, like all real explorers, was always finding new places to go; while the mice only went in the well-opened tunnels. Of course they had one or two narrow escapes, but Mully always heard them in time to hide in a little pocket he had made in the main tunnel.

It was such fun to run back to the popcorn patch. The tunnel led there just as straight as though Mully Mole himself ate popcorn. Of course he didn't—indeed, not. He ate the green worms that were after the corn. Straight for a hillock he dug his way quickly he nosed around and ate all the worms to be found; and then off to another hillock he bored his way. Nobody could say Mully Mole was lazy! He worked every minute of the time!

And all that made easy eating for Tommy and Mrs. Tommy. For every time the tunnel led straight to a corn hillock where five fine large grains of corn were buried. Tommy would eat three and Mrs. Tommy two; and then off they would run to the next hillock, where Tommy would eat two grains and Mrs. Tommy would have her three—nobody could say Tommy was greedy—he liked fair play.

Now all the time that Tommy and Mrs. Tommy were eating the corn seed, and Mully Mole was working so industriously to keep the bugs from spoiling the corn, the gardener was watching for the corn to come up through the ground.

And of course it didn't come. How could it, when the mice had eaten it up? As days went by and still there were no corn shoots, the gardener dug open several of the hillocks and found that every bit of seed was gone—every bit!

And then he noticed the mole tracks. He hadn't noticed them before, because in the rough ground of the garden they did not show plainly as in the front lawn.

"Of course my corn doesn't come up!" said that gardener crossly. "That wicked mole has eaten all the seed! I'll get after him this very day—naughty fellow that he is!" So the gardener planned to run Mully Mole out of the garden. Wasn't that too bad when all the time, Mully was working his best to help the gardener?

"That only shows," said Mr. Gardener, "that you heard all about it. That nobody should judge by appearances!"

She pushed at the revolving door and would peak in. What she saw made her cry and she wept copiously. Finally she took one long look and began wringing her hands at lib. Mr. Pickens very chivalrously hurried to her side to be of any assistance he could. They are that way in St. Louis.

"Madam," said he sympathetically, "may I be of any assistance to you?"

"Yes," shouted a man in an auto at the curb. "You can assist her and me too by heating it."

Naturally Mr. Pickens was ruffled. "Sir," he said "you are insulting."

"Maybe I am" was the reply, "but you are crabbing this picture."

When the surprised Mr. Pickens dropped back, the man in the auto shouted: "Now, Arline, go to it! Remember, the great tenor is about to leave his hotel. You are infatuated with him. All right—now camera."

He refers to the patriotic tune "Wake Up America" and has written a double-headed two-column editorial about it. The publishers were almost overcome with the outburst of publicity.

He said: "The song ought to be sung in every theatre, in every house, by human beings and by talking machines. There should be several verses about England. She was half asleep, and if she had not had the good fortune to be an island she would no longer be a nation."

A beautiful young girl of 19 was picked up on Broadway the other evening under the influence of drugs. A Central Office man out doing the town saw her in a tango palace. He noted the fact that she was shyly using cocaine between dances.

She was in evening clothes and a Landau limousine with a liveried chauffeur awaited her outside. The sleuth trailed her and tapped her on the arm at the curb.

"Come on to headquarters," he said. She smiled and invited him to ride with her in her car. He accepted and when she arrived gave the name of "Madge O'Brien." She refused to tell anything about herself. The police intimate that she is one of a group of young ladies of good family who have been drug addicts. They are unable to learn, however, where they get their supply.

NEW N. & W. DEPOT TO COST ALMOST HALF MILLION

WORK WILL BEGIN EARLY NEXT SPRING STATION FOR E. E.

The new Norfolk and Western depot for the city of Portsmouth, which will be located in the northwestern part of the city near the Portsmouth Paving Brick company, Chillicothe street, is to entail an expenditure of $450,000, according to an announcement made by President L. E. Johnson, Norfolk and Western railway, Monday. "Even with the most sanguine hopes," said Mr. Johnson, before the meeting adjourned at the offices of the Board of Trade, at which several of the city officials and local business men attended, "we will not be able to start actual work on the depot proper before next spring, as there are a great many details such as changing the tracks, etc., to be worked out first."

President L. E. Johnson, General Manager A. C. Needles and Chief Engineer J. E. Crawford arrived in Portsmouth in a special car Monday afternoon and were met at the depot by Hon. Henry T. Bannan. The party proceeded directly to the offices of Levi D. York, president of the Portsmouth Street Railway and Light company where the plans for the new depot were discussed relative to changing the street car tracks on Seventeenth street.

At five o'clock the railway officials met the city officials and several local business men at the Board of Trade offices, Masonic Temple.

Two Plans Submitted

Two sets of tentative plans were submitted by President Johnson, both of which he said, would be satisfactory to the railway company, but added that the first plan was the "most favorable."

The first plan is to build the depot in the triangular lot just east of Chillicothe street. This would necessitate the closing of Seventeenth street between Findlay street and Kinney street.

Depot To Be One Story Building

The building proper in both plans is to be a one story ornate brick structure 10 by 225 feet and will contain all of the modern improvements and equipment. There

HOW TO REDUCE YOUR WEIGHT

A Simple, Safe, Reliable Way.

People who are overburdened with superfluous fat, know only too well the discomfort and ridicule that over-stout people have to bear.

If you are carrying around five or ten pounds of unhealthy fat you are unnecessarily weakening your vital organs and are carrying a burden which destroys the beauty of your figure.

There is no need of any one suffering from superfluous fat. If you want to reduce your weight in a simple, safe and reliable way without starvation diet or tire-some exercise, spend as much time as you can in the open air, breathe deeply and get from The Fisher & Strech Pharmacy or any good druggist a box of oil of kadi capsules; take one after each meal and one before retiring at night.

Weigh yourself once a week so as to know just how fast you are losing weight and don't leave off the treatment or even skip a single dose until you are down to normal.

Oil of kadi is absolutely harmless, is pleasant to take, helps digestion and is designed to consume the excessive fatty tissue by increasing the oxygen-carrying power of the blood. Even a few days' treatment should show a noticeable reduction in weight, footsteps become lighter, your work seems easier and lighter and more buoyant feeling takes possession of your whole being.

Every person who suffers from superfluous fat should give this treatment a trial.

here two or three weeks ago and I think convinced them, if one can judge from the newspaper's full details which I read, that the location for the passenger depot in the northwestern part of the city down near Chillicothe street was favorable.

"We have here now only two plans we are to consider and these we do care to consider very carefully. One plan, which I consider the most favorable, is to place the passenger station to the right of Chillicothe street, across from Seventeenth street, which would necessitate the closing of Seventeenth street from Kinney to Findlay streets. That would put this station in a position which would be approached from Findlay street and Chillicothe street by a viaduct which we propose to build over the railroad tracks.

Street Car Tracks Will Probably Be Changed

"I am aware of the fact that the street car line cannot come down Seventeenth street to Findlay street then and I have just come from Mr. York's office and he is not opposed to changing the line if conditions are made that will be satisfactory to the citizens and themselves.

"I suggested to Mr. York and his son Raymond after they had looked over the plans and saw perfectly what we proposed to do, that they leave Seventeenth street between Chillicothe and Kinney streets and go across the viaduct to Eighteenth street and then around. There are some physical objections to be looked into but they both recognized that it would be very much better route for business and resident interests, both, if they could get across the Norfolk and Western tracks without delay and this would give them an unbroken route which would not be crossed by trains.

"Then the other plan is to place the station west of Seventeenth street. This plan takes the freight movement from that part of the east bound tracks where congestion causes more annoyance than all the others and puts it on the west bound track.

"We expect to make a crossing over the Baltimore and Ohio Southwestern railway track somewhere near Gallia street and keep all freight traffic on the west bound tracks. That means concentration over the proposed route.

New Station For East End

"In addition to locating the depot there, which will serve the citizens and the general run of passengers, it is proposed to build another depot to let off and take on passengers, just west of the new viaduct (Kendall avenue). This station would not be given to handling of baggage and express but simply an accommodation for the passengers to get on and get off. This means two stations instead of one.

"The railroad officials recognize that on account of the topography of the city, which is generally to nearly all river towns that are long and comparatively narrow, that it would be impossible to put the station somewhere near the present location. We looked over the grounds at the freight depot, also, and we decided it would not be adequate.

Much Room Needed Argued President Johnson

"I can only emphasize what we found regarding conditions. We need a place where property at any price which would give us the necessary room we must have. We must have a place for the freight cars and trucks. We have got to have room to care for coaches and a small passenger coach yard. We must have the facilities to handle the business and in order to do so we must have the room.

"It so happens that we own and have the major portion of the property where we propose to locate and we have acquired by purchase some additional lots which we wanted to change the curvature of the tracks to make the site more available. We have acquired all of the property needed to carry out the scheme. If you have any questions you would like to ask, or explanations made or details just say so.

"I must add that the expenditure we propose to make is about $450,000."

Blue Prints Inspected

The blue prints of the two plans were then in fact and laid upon the table and explanations were given. Mr. Johnson said that the proposed two plans were made by Crawford and myself, and we amined, Mayor H. H. Kaps suggested that if the first plan was adopted, that the railway company install an underhead crossing at Sixteenth and railroad streets to eliminate the grade crossings. President Johnson said that the railway company was willing to make a study of it and would probably be willing to make the proposed improvement if the city would take care of the property damages.

Councilmen To Inspect Site

After the plans had been examined, Charles W. Wilson, floor leader in city council, said: "I believe that I am not only speaking for myself, but for the other members of council when I say that we are not all engineers and are not all able to get a complete understanding of the proposed plans from the blueprints. I personally, and believe that the other members of council are of the same opinion, would like to have the opportunity of visiting the site in company with the officials and the engineers of the Norfolk and Western railway and go over the plans. I believe that we could be enlightened more on what you propose to do and what the proposed plans consist of, and I would therefore offer a motion that arrangements be made here for a trip to the site."

The motion carried and President Johnson appointed Charles Losh, resident engineer for the railway company, and Superintendent J. T. Carey, this city, to accompany the city officials to the ground. It was agreed that they meet Saturday morning, at eight o'clock.

Before the meeting adjourned, President Johnson admonished the city authorities not to lose sight of the transportation of freight through the city and said that it "was considerable now and would be increased still more." He said that every "man, woman and child in the city are vitally interested in eliminating the grade crossing on Seventeenth street and urged the city officials to co-operate with the street railway company.

Those attending the meeting besides the three railway officials from Roanoke were: Mayor H. H. Kaps, Councilmen Emory P. Ricker, Sherard Johnson, Harold Rice, Charles W. Wilson, W. M. Cramer and Geo. W. Vandervort; City Engineer Samuel G. Harper, Service Director Ralph Calvert, Safety Director E. K. S. Clinkenberg, Charles Daehler, Harry E. Taylor, Henry T. Bannan, Superintendent J. T. Carey, Robert G. Ryan, Arthur H. Bannan and Charles Losh.

TEAM IS EJECTED FROM THE WASHINGTON HOTEL

As a result of some rowdy action on the part of one of the Frankfurt players at the Washington Hotel, Monday night, when a porter, Tennie Wilson was clubbed with a base ball bat, the proprietor of the hotel, Alan N. Jordan, ejected the entire team Tuesday morning and informed the manager, Mr. Holmes, that the "Old Taylors" would hereafter be barred from the hotel. The manager, after investigating the report that some of his men had been celebrating, informed Mr. Jordan that he did not blame him in the least for taking such action, although he suggested that he overlook the affair this one time. Mr. Jordan, however, refused to reconsider his action, and the entire team was forced out and were soon hunting up other quarters.

Had Mr. Jordan known of the affair last night, he would have ejected the team on the spot. A report of the affair did not reach him until Tuesday morning.

It seems that at least one of the players was drinking and was in a very ugly frame of mind. A bell they answered a call to this play er's room, and claims that he was subjected to much verbal abuse. He came down stairs and refused to answer further calls. Porter Tennie Wilson, however, went to the player's room after several bell calls, and claims that he was set upon by three men, one of whom hit him across the back with a base ball bat. He was pretty badly used up, he claims, and shows marks of the encounter. No arrests were made, as no complaint was lodged with the police by Mr. Jordan.

THANK YOU.

Will print both recipes later. It's several weeks too early for roasting ears and home-grown tomatoes. If I run them now you would lose them and I'd have to print them over and over again.

A Fan—He is an Italian by birth.

Miss Wise—Please tell me how the seats in the High school are arranged. Also tell me what ocean you can bathe in when you go to Norfolk.

The seats in the High school are arranged the same as they are in any other public auditorium. Why not drop in sometime and see how they are arranged. The building is open all day and oftentimes in the evening. Norfolk is on the Atlantic ocean.

Dear Dolly Wise—Would you please tell me how to make a bride's cake. My sister is going to be married and I want to surprise her. How is my writing and spelling. I am only 8 years old. DARLING. Marriage Cake—Take five pounds of cream, 1 teaspoon lemon extract, mix with pulverized sugar until you can mix like bread, then roll in thin cake. Yellow Part—Yolk of one egg well beaten, 2 tablespoons cream, 1 teaspoon vanilla, mix with pulverized sugar until you can mix like bread and roll in a thin cake, lay one cake upon the other and cut in squares. If desired place nut meat on top of squares.

Miss Dolly Wise—Will you please publish a recipe for dried corn for if your parents do not want you to go out you had better stay at home. They know more about you than anyone else.

Dear Dolly Wise—I am a girl of 14 and every time I go on the train or street cars I get so sick I can hardly sit up. I can't even swing in a swing or ride in an auto. Can you tell me anything that would keep me from getting so sick? Would you please give me a good recipe for peanut butter? At what age should a girl enter high school? How is my grammar, writing and spelling?

ARETTA.

I know lots of people who have the same trouble. Sometimes riding backwards causes one to get sick, others get sick if they look out the window. For peanut butter, grind the peanuts in a meat grinder and mix with enough butter to make a smooth paste, not too thin—just thin enough to spread. A girl should enter high school at 13 or 14. I should think. However, at all depends on the girl, some enter earlier, others do not enter until they are 15 or 16. Your spelling and grammar are both good.

BRUSH TEETH CORRECTLY

The right way to brush the teeth is to hold the bristles upright. In this way the crevices, as well as the surfaces are thoroughly cleaned, provided a few drops of hycolite in a glass of water are used. Particles of food which invite germs and microbes get into the tiny crevices. Hycolite reaches every crevice, kills the germs and makes the mouth and breath sweet and clean.

You surely must use hycolite and avoid decay of teeth. Rinse and gargle with this very satisfying and effective mouth wash and you will escape throat troubles and other germ diseases. Dentists are urging the use of hycolite because it is such a pure, safe and remarkably effective antiseptic. It cools and soothes, cleanses and heals and is very economical. Hycolite can be obtained from any druggist. General Laboratories, Madison, Wis.

Sensibility. Two highly respectable citizens of Brooklyn were strolling past the old Kings county penitentiary, now nothing but a memory. They noticed a gang of convicts working on the road and seemed to watch the prisoners, who appeared to be harder than the stones they were breaking. The guard, a tough-looking man, came along and said:

"Beg pardon, gentlemen. You will have to move on. It embarrasses the boys to have their friends see them in such a predicament."—New York Post.

"Nobody Home." In Two Acts. Act 1. Opportunity knocks. "Who's there?" asked the wife of her husband. "Nobody. Maybe a leggar. Let him knock. Nobody home," replied the lazy old husband.

Twenty years have elapsed. Act 2. "What's that noise?" asked the old man of his old wife.

The noise is repeated. "There it is again. Go to the window and see what it is," said the old husband. Wife goes to window and peers through the patterned curtains. "Come back. It is the wolf," she says. "I won't go, as did the other visitor who turned away."—Richmond Times Dispatch.

Sufficient Proof.

A citizen was standing on a street corner looking a bit depressed when a friend sauntered along.

"What seems to be the trouble, old man?" solicitously queried the latter.

"I have just had something of a job," answered the sad one. "I was bequeathed a silver service as the wedding gift a few weeks ago, and now I know that it is only plated ware."

"Sorry to hear that, old fellow," returned the friend. "But you may be mistaken."

"Oh, no, I'm not," was the mournful rejoinder of the sad one. "The service was on the sidewalk the other night when burglars broke in, but they never touched it."—Chillicothe Telegraph.

R. A. Mack Says He Is A Candidate For Republican Nomination For Governor

The following from Monday's Cincinnati Enquirer, is of interest in this city, as R. A. Mack is a frequent business visitor here and has numerous friends in Portsmouth:

Rudolph A. Mack, formerly of Gallia county, but a resident of Cincinnati, for the last five years, has announced that he will be a candidate for the Republican nomination for governor in opposition to Governor Frank B. Willis, with whom he had a falling out a year ago. Mack expects to draw votes from the "dry" element. He has no hope of being elected, but seeks to defeat Willis.

Dr. Edwards' STRENGTH TONIC

This Tonic which Dr. Edwards recommends is designed to restore strength to the weak, strength to the muscles, strength to the mind and strength to the nerves.

It is given to restore to the blood that rich red color which every weak and run-down person must have before he can get well and strong.

That Natural Ruddy Color

Of good health is absent in cases of thin, weak and run-down patients. Their cheeks, lips and eyelids lack that normal blood tint, and the feeling of well being is not with them. Dr. Edwards' Strength Tonic restores the color to the blood, drives away that sickly greenish pallor of the complexion and supplies fuel for the vital fire in weak and thin people.

Nervous Patients

Dr. Edwards says patients are nervous because they do not have enough rich, red blood to feed the nerves. So he made this Tonic to give the blood just what it needs for that purpose.

Sugar Coated Tablets

Dr. Edwards has his Tonic put in a sugar coated tablet so it will be pleasant to take and will not injure the teeth. Pale, thin, weak and run-down people contract diseases more frequently than well ones. They are liable to have Rheumatism, Neuralgia, Bright's Disease, Nervous Dyspepsia, Insanity, Fevers and Consumption.

Don't Have These

Why not put yourself in shape not to have these diseases by letting Dr. Edwards' Strength Tonic help you out of your nervous and run-down condition? It will build you up right from the start by increasing your appetite, toning up the nervous system, enriching the blood and increasing your vital force. For sale by your druggist.

IF WAR'S YOUR DUTY

"Youngster, what seek you in warfare and trappings,
What is the lure?
Is it the service your country is needing?
Boy, are you sure?"

"Veteran, you ask this, whose name through all ages
Stands forth, immortal, in story and song?
Your watchword is mine, it emblazons my standard;
Battle scarred veteran, you ask if I'm wrong?"

"Aye, I have stumbled on battlefields gory;
Seen many victories, grim as defeat;
Watched death a-stalking through prison cells fetid;
Think you the conquest was unalloyed sweet?"

"Wars are for glory, wars are for story,
Wars are for progress of race or for gain,
Wars easy started are ended half hearted,
Seeing red blood drip as freely as rain.

"Is it the call of your country that spurs you?
Epulettes, armament often allure.
If war's your duty, then all the gods speed you,
Yet, O, young warrior, BE SURE, BE SURE!"

Republican Club Endorses Candidacy Of Joseph T. Tracy

The Scioto County Republican committee has unanimously endorsed the candidacy of Joseph T. Tracy for the Republican nomination for Auditor of State. At a recent meeting the following resolution commending his candidacy to the Republicans of Ohio was passed:

"By reason of its distinctive character, the office of auditor of state calls for special qualifications, special efficiency and special experience.

"The Republican party should therefore offer to the people as its candidate one whose special fitness and preparation for the place is so apparent that it will at once meet their sound and cordial approval."

"Such a nominee will not only strengthen the ticket in the important presidential year, but will make sure the winning of the Democratic party of the only effective branch of the state government left in its control."

"To the Republican party of Ohio we earnestly present Joseph T. Tracy, Portsmouth, Scioto county, as the ideal and logical candidate for auditor of state because of his special qualifications, efficiency and experience."

"He has had practical experience as a county school examiner, deputy clerk of courts and county auditor. Since his connection with the department of the auditor of state, he has had the most extended experience as special examiner of county offices, supervisor of school, township and city affairs and in the bureau of accounting, and in his thirteen years of experience in the department he has attained not only a thorough knowledge of every detail of its intricate workings, but he has attained that comprehension, knowledge and vision which will enable him to conduct its affairs and policies upon broad lines to the more useful and effective service of the state and people.

"His retention in the department by a Democratic state auditor, because of his remarkable efficiency, is not only an argument for his nomination, but is an unquestionable testimonial from political opponents which will make him invincible as a candidate before the people."

"In addition to his competency, his high character, his Republicanism, the element of geography is worthy of just consideration. Unless Mr. Tracy is nominated, the whole southern and southeastern part of Ohio, the Republican Gibraltar, will be without representation upon the state ticket. We appeal to the sense of fairness of our fellow Republicans throughout the state to see to it that Southern Ohio be given recognition upon the ticket."

"We earnestly present Mr. Tracy's candidacy for auditor of state for your earnest and careful consideration and respectfully solicit and will gratefully appreciate your cordial support and valued influence."

Very sincerely yours,
P. W. YOUNG, Chairman.
EDWARD CUNNINGHAM, Secy.

Girder For New Bridge To Be Placed Thursday

All is in readiness for the setting of the girders for the C. & O. Northern bridge across the N. & W. tracks at Sciotoville. The final consent of the N. & W. It is necessary to use the N. & W. tracks to swing the girders into place.

Arabic Laughing Dove.

An extremely strange bird is the laughing pigeon, or Arabic laughing dove. In color these pigeons are usually red, mottled or checkered, though they are sometimes found of a bluish color. Their voice baffles all description, being treasured and broken, with sniggering notes, like the noise of water poured from a bottle. The utterance is varied, and though there is a resemblance at times to the drumming of a true trumpet, it is not so sonorous. It is frequently interrupted by one or more of the inspiratory "ahs," which no doubt gives them the name of laughing. Their cooing is soft and melodious, and both sexes take part in the song.

Stream Fire Pumps.
The first fire engine in which steam was used to drive the pumps was that of Hirthwaite in 1820.

ECZEMA ON BABY'S HEAD AND FACE

Started With Little Pimples, Spread All Over Her Face, Head and Neck and Got Real Sore.

HEALED BY CUTICURA SOAP AND OINTMENT

"My little daughter had a bad case of eczema on her head and face when she was five months old. She took it with just a few little red pimples, and it started from that and spread all over her face, head and neck. They got real sore and she would scratch as they would itch her so much. She was terrible cross and fearful. While it lasted, her face was disfigured. She could not sleep or rest until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I started with just a few samples and it relieved her so I purchased more and about two months after, she was healed." (Signed) Mrs. Allen Willinger, R. F. D. 4, Alliance, Ohio, July 26, 1915.

Sample Each Free by Mail
With 32-p. Skin Book on request. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. T. Boston." Sold throughout the world.

Many Sided Kicks of the Camel.
A camel's hind legs will reach anywhere—over his head, round his chest and to his hump. Even when lying down an evil disposed animal will shoot out his legs and bring you to a sitting posture if he wants to. Compared with a camel a man is really a most comical creature, so beware when the camel looks at C he is going to kick.—New York World.

THE NEWEST REMEDY FOR BACKACHE, RHEUMATISM AND DROPSY

Kidney, Bladder and Uric Acid
This is a good time to take "Anuric," the new discovery of Dr. Pierce for Kidney trouble and Backache. Neglected kidney trouble is responsible for many deaths, and Insurance Company examining doctors always test the water of an applicant before a policy will be issued. Have you ever set aside a bottle of water for twenty-four hours? A heavy sediment or settling sometimes indicates kidney trouble. The true nature and character of diseases, especially those of the kidneys and urinary organs, can often be determined by a careful chemical analysis and microscopic examination—this is done by expert chemists of the Medical Bureau, N. Y., and describe your symptoms. It will be examined without any expense to you, and Doctor Pierce or his Staff of Assistants of the Invalids' Hotel, 115 Madison St., New York, will inform you truthfully.

STUDY THE PRESENT.

Why not study the present? If a man examines his thoughts he will find them all occupied with the past and the future. We hardly ever think about the present. * * * Thus always laying ourselves out to be happy (in the future) it is inevitable that man cannot be so actually.—Pascal.

LOST LOVE OF HER "STEADY," WOMAN ATTEMPTS SUICIDE

Carbolic Acid Taken, Life May Be Saved

Believing that her lover, a man whose name she gave as James Dixon and, who is said to be employed by the Selby Shoe company, had "gone back on her" and that her mother, Mrs. Cora Owens, of New Boston, no longer cared for her, Mrs. Tressie Stamper Wilson, a comely blonde, 22, attempted suicide Monday afternoon by swallowing almost an ounce of carbolic acid. Two physicians were hurriedly summoned and they succeeded in saving Mrs. Wilson's life, although she is not yet out of danger.

Mrs. Wilson resides with her sorry for what I have done," aunt, Mrs. May Collins, who lives on Front street east of Sixth.

Going to her room yesterday afternoon Mrs. Wilson, who told a Times man this morning that she had been separated from her husband for a year, she drained a small bottle of carbolic acid. She was later found in an unconscious condition by Mrs. Collins. Emetics were administered by two physicians who were called and prompt work on their part saved the girl's life.

The Doctor's First Suggestion

Get Rid of Constipation. You Can't Feel Good When the Stomach and Bowels Are Full of Poisonous Waste

People who feel half sick and nervous all the time can be well and feel fine every day by drinking Tollo Water from Dawson Springs, the famous Kentucky health resort. Constipation clogs the bowels with a mass of sour waste that must be removed every day if we are to have clear skin and rosy cheeks.

Simply, sallow skin, headaches, nervousness and sour, gassy stomachs come from fermented waste in the bowels. Every one should keep the system clean—not with drugs and oils that leave the delicate lining of the stomach and intestines irritated—but with Tollo Water that flushes them gently and quickly, leaving them refreshed and healthy.

Doctors recommend a third of a tumbler of Tollo Water taken in a glass of plain water before breakfast. It relieves constipation in a few minutes, takes the burden of over-work off the stomach and liver, leaving them free to perform their functions without strain.

You can get a large bottle of this wonderful water from any drug store for a few cents and you should take your first glass tomorrow morning. Its regular use will keep you in a good condition; you will never be bilious, have headaches or a sour, gassy stomach again.

TRENCHES BY ROADSIDE FOR TRAVELLERS' SAFETY

This photograph of a highway on the western front shows precautions taken by the French for the safety of travellers in the war zone. The sign "Attention, a Fritz" at the entrance of a Bogan, or trench, warns travellers to take to the Bogan for safety.

SOUTHERN NEGRO ALMOST CAUSED RIOT AT DEPOT

Riotous scenes attended the arrest of William Harris, a North Carolina negro, near the Southern Express depot late Monday afternoon.

Harris is said to have resisted arrest after having first made his boast that he could whip the entire police force of the city and particularly Patrolman Joe Beckett, who had gone to arrest him.

He attacked Beckett as soon as he came up to him, according to the police's version of the affair and had been around in that vicinity all afternoon looking for trouble. Officers Dunham and Templeman were at the depot in citizens' clothes and rushed to Beckett's assistance. Harris once knocked Dunham and over and over a number of negroes mistaking the officers in citizens' clothes as outsiders also took a hand in the mix-up and for a time it took on the nature of a "free-for-all."

A lorry call was sent in for the patrol and once Harris had been clubbed into submission—his face and head a sight to behold—he was hustled into the wagon and brought to the city prison for repairs. City Physician Dr. W. D. Schafer attending him.

Sherman Johnson, janitor at the Lyric theatre, was in a barber shop opposite the scene of the slugging of the trouble between Beckett and the negro. According to Johnson the negro jerked loose from Beckett when he laid his hand on his arm. Beckett then swung at the negro with his fist but missed him and fell.

Officers Dunham and Templeman then appeared on the scene and started towards the N. & W. depot with the prisoner. In front of the Richard Forrest home, it is claimed, Beckett walked up behind the trio and hit the negro over the head with his mace. They had more trouble in front of the N. & W. station.

Harry Hopkins, Garrett Starks, Henry Harrison, Ollie Redman and Jake Henry, all colored, were placed on the carpet by Mayor Kaps Tuesday morning on complaint that they had interfered with and criticised the officers.

Starks when questioned, said he was passing on a bicycle when he saw three officers and Salou-keeper Alf Ray beating up the colored man and that Beckett drew his gun and but for Tod Cropper walking up and telling him not to shoot, a tragedy would have resulted. He said because he himself pleaded for mercy for the negro that the day police also wanted to arrest him.

Starks was reminded that only a few days ago he personally had commended Beckett for having broken up the looting around Paradise Alley so that the respectable colored people could now travel through the N. & W. without fear of being molested.

"That's the trouble with some of the people out in your section. When we try to clean up and get the rough necks who drift into the city who you say bring disgrace to your race and occasionally have to employ some force to do it, you hold up such characters. In this instance the officer was knocked down several times himself and Harris, who had been playing bad man all day, boasted that he could whip the whole police force. Perhaps after Beckett had gotten his man bested he went too far in still beating him, but he was angered like any other person would be who had been attacked. So long as I am mayor, when an officer goes to make an arrest he must either get his man or lose his job. Why, someone in that crowd even tried to plunge a knife into Beckett. Harris still wanted to fight when he came into the office here. The officer accommodated him by whipping him singlehanded. Harris got just what was coming to him."

Ollie Redman denied having made a remark to the effect that Mayor Kaps would want a second term, saying instead he had tried to keep others from interfering, but had heard Harris say to Beckett that he was under arrest and for him to take him and that he then asked Beckett not to strike him again.

Suspects Arrested

George Rayner and Melvin Jenkins, the two petty thieves banished from the city a few days ago, are again in police custody. They are locked up on suspicion of having committed the three robberies of a few nights ago, the Manning second hand store, Herman Graf & Son's grocery and Bobst & Huffman's grocery.

The mayor said that Beckett was exhausted earlier in the afternoon when he had to sit on Boss Ford's head all the way to the police station to avoid the necessity of clubbing her. He said he made a mistake in not knocking her head off, for she is not human when full of cocaine.

Then, Herron was the first person to call the police after he had seen Harris draw a knife on a negro named Spaulding. The police officials all claim that but for the other officers in citizen's clothes rushing to Beckett's assistance, he would have been justified in shooting the negro.

Negroes Start Fight, Landed In The Co. Jail

Deputy Sheriff Jacob Baer nipped what promised to be a real fight in the bud Monday night by arresting James Pryor and Jas. Tamper, negro laborers at the Perkins Construction camp and bringing them to the county jail.

Pryor, according to information furnished the authorities, has been living with a woman named Anna Belle Vanison at the construction camp for some time past. Monday evening, the woman wanted Pryor to bring her to Portsmouth and he refused and a violent argument ensued. The man was determined that she would not go and the woman was equally sure that she would. Jas. Tamper, it is claimed, interrupted the argument and a "real old-fashioned knock-down-and-drag-out" fight was promised.

The officer arrived at the camp in time and placed the two negroes under arrest. They were lodged in the county jail Monday night.

Well Known Men Have A Miraculous Escape, Train Smashes Buggy

A male team belonging to Warnock Bros., of Greenup, Ky., was killed, a wagon drawn by the team demolished, and two occupants of the buggy, William Warnock and Harry Boggs, escaped death in an almost miraculous manner Monday evening when eastbound N. & W. freight train No. 1449, in charge of Conductor Sutton, struck them at the corner of Front and Railroad streets, Ironton.

The mules were dragged to the N. & W. depot and parts of their carcasses were strewn along the tracks. Warnock and Boggs were carried quite a distance in the buggy before they were thrown off to the side of the track and neither received more than painful bruises.

They were returning to Greenup after a business visit to Ironton and failed to notice the train when they attempted to cross the N. & W. tracks to go to the ferry grade.

Warnock and Boggs are well known in Portsmouth.

There is in "Mother's Friend" the direct and immediate help that all expectant mothers require. Used by their own hands, guided by their own minds, they learn at once the blessed relief from morning sickness resulting from undue stretching. They experience the pain from indigestion. It is a relief that can be felt. Get a bottle today, or any day. Then write Headlight Remedy Co., 414 Lamar Bldg., Atlanta, Ga., for one of the most satisfying and valuable little books ever presented. It is worth writing for.

WEST SIDE BARN IS STRUCK BY LIGHTNING

A barn on the E. A. Moore farm, West Side, was completely destroyed by fire Monday night at 9:30 o'clock, shortly after it had been struck by lightning. Claude Moore, son of the owner, stated Tuesday that the loss was about $1,000. The insurance carried amounted to $550.

Claude Moore, who lives but a rapidly falling rain and almost short distance from the barn said that he was looking at the building when the lightning struck the side of the barn. The flames almost immediately enveloped the structure. Moore hurried to the barn and just had time to rescue five horses.

The flames swept out into the

Mrs. Webb Unable To Appear, Case Continued, Police News

Mrs. Nina Webb, the East End woman, who had her shoulder fractured in a fight with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Emma Braden, Sunday, was unable to appear in police court Monday evening, and although Mrs. Braden and all witnesses were present, the hearing was continued indefinitely. Attorney W. R. Sprague was present to defend Hartzel Lester, whom Mrs. Braden charged with assaulting her.

An aged man giving the name of J. W. Lacey, was fined $10 for drunkenness and disorderly conduct. The mayor found it difficult to pass upon the other accusations to the effect that Lacey had made indecent remarks to a young daughter of Mrs. Alex Moore at whose home he had boarded as each side presented only one witness. Lacey himself denied any improper conduct.

Lacey Herron, of near Tenth and Gay streets, was fined $10 on a charge of furnishing liquor to a minor, giving the name of Stelmar Lewis, and promised a work house trip if she ever offended again. Lewis, who is a mere bashful youth, created considerable merriment by his evasive replies and efforts to avoid details in telling his story and had to be called to account by the court. He was fined $5 for drunkenness.

Harry Vaughn and Charles Connors were named given by young men arrested for fighting at Edie Gordley's house on West Eleventh street Saturday night. Vaughn had been drinking and struck at a girl named Nora Dunham, when she was ejecting him from the house and Connors, who was just entering, "mixed it up" with Vaughn. The two were fined $10 each, while two companions giving the names of Jack Green and Joe Smith were fined $5 for being in bad company. A C. & O. Northern employee giving the name of Dave Chapman, forfeited a $5 cash bond by failing to answer to a drunkenness charge.

Carl Burkhardt, who was accused of driving a motorcycle past a street car while it was discharging passengers and failing to display a license tag, was dismissed with a warning.

PROPOSE A MILLION MEN FOR HOLLAND'S FIGHTING STRENGTH

The Hague, Netherlands, May 24.—An army of 1,300,000 men as Holland's military strength in any future European struggle is the preparedness program of the "Volksverweerdiging" or National Defense association, which enjoys a state subsidy and had 140 branches and nearly 14,000 members.

Under this program every able-bodied man and woman would be enlisted for the country's defense. There would be universal service instead of the limited compulsory system which now obtains. The association is convinced that freedom and independence can be assured only when all who are able, conscious of their duty, prepare themselves in service in the country's defense forces, with a view, in case of necessity, to being able to defend those most sacred possessions of the nation.

The concrete scheme of the association takes the form of general compulsory training, with limited repetition training and service, and local and provincial training and organization. Starting out from the principle that the basis of all defense must be the forming of a powerful race, the program would provide physical exercise in the schools, and subsequent preparatory training of the youth of the country. After this time actually spent in the ranks would be comparatively short, the association argues, citing what has been seen in that respect in the present war.

Only a few of the large levies thus obtained would suffice to form the field army. Thence the men would pass out into the "local troops"—territorial defense forces. These latter would be so organized that, together with the strong localized frontier and coast guards, they could be ready to take the field in a few hours.

While the "local troops" would, in the first place, serve for defense, the field army would be destined for offensive operations. The two together would form a force of about 500,000 men, fully trained, while there would still be a reserve in the depots of more than 500,000 men, making up the total of 1,300,000 mentioned.

Coughs
Colds
Pneumonia

The neglected cough turns into bronchitis or pneumonia—and as a result, 140,000 Americans die every year.

Ion-o-lex quickly relieves the inflamed condition of the throat and chest—and the patient gets well. That is all it does—just stops inflammation—but that is the one thing that has to be done to cure the disease.

Ion-o-lex is not a drug—it contains no narcotics or opiates. Its action is purely mechanical. It is harmless and almost tasteless—and it does not interfere with any other treatment.

A Detroit Woman writes:

Your Ion-o-lex has cured me of a severe case of PNEUMONIA. I took a box of 25 which cleared my throat, and finally settled in my lungs. The pain was almost unbearable, affecting my work, sleep and diet. It was very difficult for me to breathe, and very frequently I would cough up a blood-tinged sputum from my lungs. I was delirious for nearly half an hour.

For about a week I had been feeling a sore throat in the throat. The next morning I had a severe cold, and my temperature was normal. In two days the sore throat had left me, and I was feeling almost as well as ever.

The original of this letter is on file at the Ion-o-lex office, together with hundreds of others equally convincing and amazing.

Ion-o-lex is not a quick medicine. It is a remarkable scientific discovery that has been used for some time by the most prominent physicians and in the military hospitals of England.
